

Nathan Roach

Suzie Steen Management

Nathan Roach is a Sydney-based actor and improviser who is making his mark on both stage and screen. When he is not performing as part of Improv Theatre Sydney's longest running house team, he is working on his craft in live sketch, theatre plays and on-screen drama and comedy roles.

Amongst his various commercial roles, he has portrayed Ziggy in Danielle Cormack's AACTA nominated short film Why We Fight and played Ywain in Jack Price's debut one act play Where is Lancelot.
