

Amelia Vivian has a passion for storytelling, and an eagerness to embrace new challenges and roles.

Amelia's journey into the world of screen acting began with her role as an extra in the film Don't Tell (2016).. This early experience ignited her passion for screen acting and set the stage for her subsequent theatrical achievements.

In the realm of theatre, Amelia has demonstrated her range and talent through a variety of roles. Notably, she took on the role Paulette Bonefonte' in the critically acclaimed Legally Blonde (2023), presented by Faith College Musical. Her portrayal of this vibrant character was marked by a captivating energy, humour, and a strong stage presence. Amelia also brought depth to her performance as a minor speaking role in Little Women (2022), a production by Lockyer Regional Performing Arts. Her ability to convey subtle emotions and engage with the audience further solidified her reputation as a skilled actress within this community. Additionally, her portrayal of the main character in James & the Giant Peach (2018), also with Lockyer Regional Performing Arts, showcased her talent for bringing whimsical and adventurous characters to life.

Amelia's training has been instrumental in honing her craft. Amelia completed an intensive week of training with George Caceres' The Celebrity Experience where she studied scene work with American actor and director Jonathon Goldstein, developed her stage presence under the guidance of Acting Coach and Executive Producer Jo Hunt, and refined her acting techniques in workshops led by Australian Actress Mel Zanetti at the USQ School of Creative Arts. Her progression in character development has been shaped by Australian Actor Robin Darch, while her proficiency in reels and auditions has been enhanced through Ben Parkinson Casting's workshops.

Beyond her acting prowess, Amelia brings a range of special skills to her performances. As a beginner soprano, she is beginning to make her mark in theatre. Her intermediate swimming skills (freestyle, breaststroke, backstroke) and netball experience further complement her physical versatility on stage. Amelia also possesses a unique talent for whip cracking and is exploring beginner crochet, reflecting her creative and multifaceted personality.

With a steadfast dedication to personal growth and a deep passion for the craft of performance, Amelia is a poised and composed individual who captivates audiences both on stage and in front of the camera. Her combination of extensive training, innate talent, and distinctive skills positions her to make a significant impact in the acting world and beyond. Her blend of training, talent, and unique abilities makes her a promising and exciting performer to watch.
