RHEA MANOJ

Rhea Manoj is a Perth-based South Asian actor whose recent screen credits include a leading role in the ensemble short film The Intimacy Workshop, a finalist in the Life in Pictures festival competition. Drawn to emotionally complex, character-driven storytelling, Rhea brings a strong creative foundation to her screen work, having won multiple short-story competitions and received publication recognition for her writing.

Of Indian heritage, Rhea is committed to advancing South Asian representation on screen through nuanced, multidimensional characters. She continues to develop her craft through screen productions and ongoing actor training while completing a degree in Chemical Engineering. Holding dual Australian and British citizenship, Rhea is available for interstate and international productions.
