

ALEX BULL

Alex Bull is an Australian Actress based on the Gold Coast. Whilst studying directly under McSweeney Newman (Scooby Doo) and Gregg Apps (Mission Impossible) casting directors, together they discovered Alex's funny bones. She loved learning from the likes of comedian Darren Gilshenan ("Hugo" from Stans. Population 11). Two weeks after graduating she landed her first professional job on Peacocks, Apples Never Fall. Landing lead roles in various short films, commercials and even a tv series. But it was when Academy Award winner & vintage slapstick king, Peter Farrelly (Dumb & Dumber, Seinfeld), personally commended Alex for her innate comedic ability in front of thousands on the international film set of his new buddy comedy, that she almost just combust with excitement (still recovering from that one)... Alex is absolutely full of beans about the industry around her and hopes to continue expanding her skills in dramedy!
