Being surrounded by a family in the film industry, Freyja's passion for acting started young. She graduated from Actors College of Theatre and Television with a Diploma of Arts, Stage, & Screen Acting. Freyja has appeared in numerous independent short films and videos and is passionate about contributing to the local and emerging film community.

Notable credits include 'Clarity' (2015) directed by Chris Sebastian Joys, which was screened at the 51st annual BFI's in London presented by Helen Mirren for Giorgio Armani. She starred in Big Bad World alongside breakout star Geraldine Viswanathan and has had starring and supporting roles in several short films which have won awards and toured at international film festivals. She made her TV debut in the guest role of Justine Harris in Channel Nine's 'Bite Club' where she acted alongside the likes of Dominic Monaghan, Ash Ricardo and Todd Lasance.

In 2016 Freyja Produced "Strangers in the Night" which went on to screen at international film festivals and win several awards.

Freyja sings and plays guitar in the Sydney concept band, 'Rochelle Rochelles'. She is fluent in Spanish and has busked and performed extensively across Latin America with a variety of musicians and bands as a vocalist and playing Charango, an Andean string instrument which she learnt on her travels.
