

Charlotte Salusinszky is an actor, writer, and theatre-maker living and working on Gadigal land. She graduated from the Victorian College of the Arts in 2017, where she completed her Honours year in Theatre Practice. Charlotte was a Shopfront Arts Co-op resident artist in 2019/20, where she wrote and performed Little Jokes in Times of War, an autobiographical solo performance about her family's escape from Hungary. This show had its second season at Kings Cross Theatre in March 2022. In 2021, Charlotte was shortlisted for the Create NSW Theatre (Emerging) Fellowship with Griffin Theatre. This included three months of mentorship and development with Griffin to research, The Changelings. After further development through PACT Lab; Process, Play, Experiment in October 2022, and a residency at Q Theatre in 2023, The Changelings will premiere in June 2024 at PACT Centre for Emerging Artists. In 2024, Charlotte has performed in Mercury Poisoning (KXT) and re: groups' POV (Belvoir 25a).
