

Jake Neale - Actor, Sydney Australia

Jake Neale is a dedicated and passionate actor with a strong foundation in theatre and screen performance. His journey began at the age of 8 through Helen O'Grady drama classes, leading him to intensive training at Palm Studios on the Central Coast since 2019.

Jake has honed his craft under the expert mentorship of Samson Alston and Timothy Wilde at Palm Studios College, where he has taken on key roles in stage productions such as Catch Me If You Can (2022), Heathers (2023), and The Wedding Singer (2024). Expanding his stage experience, he has also performed in Very Happy Children with Bright and Wonderful Futures (Red Tree Theatre, 2023) with Jopuka Productions and The Disappearance (Chippen Street Theatre, 2023) with Lambert House Enterprises.

In September 2023, Jake signed with Lambert House Enterprises (LHE) talent agency, securing lead roles in the independent short films Wild Dog (2023) and Laterz (2024), directed by Chelsea Ingram. He continues to refine his skills through the Young Actors Assembly (YAA) Screen Actor & Filmmaker program and is currently pursuing a Certificate III in Screen & Media at Palm Studios/Collarts.

A standout moment in Jake's career was being selected as a Top 13 Finalist in the 2024 Australian Academy of Cinema and Television Arts (AACTA) Young Stars National Youth Casting Call.

This prestigious opportunity allowed him to perform in front of industry leaders, including international casting directors Thea McLeod, Anousha Zarkesh, Nikki Barrett, and Nina Gold.

With a strong background in both theatre and screen acting, Jake Neale continues to build an impressive portfolio, showcasing his versatility, dedication, and commitment to the craft.
