

Ethan Lwin Actor Bio

Ethan Lwin, a multi-talented actor, singer, and musician, was born in Goondiwindi, a small town in regional Queensland, Australia. At 17, he moved to Brisbane to study Law and Economics at the University of Queensland, and during his time there was actively involved in student theatre productions. In 2018, he was accepted into the Queensland University of Technology's prestigious Bachelor of Fine Arts (Acting) program, graduating in 2020 with distinction. Shortly after, he made his television debut in NBC's "Young Rock" before landing the role of Dorsey in "Joe vs Carole" (Peacock). He also has extensive theatre experience having worked with Queensland Theatre and independent companies across Brisbane. Known for the compassion, versatility and intelligence he brings to his work, Ethan is quickly making a name for himself in the industry. He will next be seen in the upcoming crime drama "Human Error" (Channel Nine) as Detective Gabriel Khin.
