

BRENDAN MILES

THEATRE

2014 Scenes from an Execution Dir: Richard Hilliar Role: Suffici/Sordo

"Brendan Miles, as Suffici/Sordo gave both his characters a vulnerability and vanity that was pleasing to watch, reminding us all that personal opinion on ideas or art is subjective in the eye of the beholder. Miles performed love-able characters, even though at times they came across a bit pig-headed. Miles had a gentleness in his delivery that had you loving them anyway despite this." "Brendan Miles is a suitable proud and mystified as the man who should have been painted in his glory, but instead is painted as executioner". Lisa Thatcher

"Urgentino (Mark Lee) and Suffici (Brendan Miles) reflect often on the artist and provoke many laughs..." thebuzzfromsydney.com

"The difference in peculiarities between the vain Doge (Mark Lee) and his vain, rather one-dimensional admiral brother (Brendan Miles) are well illustrated..." artshub.com.au
