ACTRESS

ELKE HINRICHSEN

BIO

Born and raised in the Northern Rivers, Elke began acting in 2020. In just a few years, she joined the main cast in five feature films, including 'The Edge' (Netflix), 'Backlash' (Amazon Prime)—where her lead performance earned four international Best Actress awards— 'Patched' alongside Gary Sweet and Kym Wilson, and most recently wrapping on the Sydney feature film 'PAIN.T'. She is currently leading three short films on the international festival circuit.

On TV, Elke is a familiar face in major national campaigns. Most notably a month-long shoot as the lead zombie for Kia, directed by François Rousselet (The Rolling Stones, A$AP Rocky) and SBS's 'We Go There' campaign with a Golden Globe winning international team.

Off screen she recently partnered with Armani Beauty and Giorgio Armani for the Melbourne International Film Festival, invited as a SupaNova panelist for 'Backlash', a guest at Australian Fashion Week and the Rolling Stone Awards. Alongside creating her own projects and social media content.

With over six years of acting training, Elke has also built a solid foundation in stunt work—completing her NSWAPA pistol exam and training in weapons, sword combat, wirework, high falls, stage fighting, and horseback riding.

STARMETER

'I had the great pleasure of acting opposite this light filled, impressively committed, authentic young talent. I quickly found myself reliving memories of working opposite Nicole Kidman in John Duigan's Flirting, when Nicole was a similar age to Elke. The same 1000% commitment to the character, the same wisdom beyond her years, the same tenacity, warmth and iridescent light.'

Kym Wilson , LA based Australian actress.

'Elke has a striking and unique look. She has a wonderful screen presence with the unique quality as an actress- both powerful and vulnerable. Unencumbered by ego, understands nuance and has an intensity and a lightness about her.'

Gary Sweet, Australian actor
