

Kat Francis - Bio

Kat Francis is an actor, filmmaker, and a recent graduate of Sydney Actors School. She's always had a keen eye and artistic flair for film and theatre ever since watching the movie 'Alien' at the age of 10, causing her to no longer be a scaredy cat (pun intended), and thus falling in love with how film impacts people emotionally through performance and art form. During her time in the Advanced Diploma of Screen and Media course, she has been classically trained in Shakespeare scene work with director Garth Holcombe, and Improvisation with Lyn Pierce - as well as performing in a multitude of play productions and working with extraordinary directors such as Jules Billington, Claudia Barrie, Janine Watson and Shane Anthony. She also has experience creating a multitude of student films, operating in major filmmaking roles such as Writer, Director and Director of Photography. In Kat's acting journey out in the industry - whether in finding opportunities in film, theatre, or voiceover work - her main goal is to be able to create new characters and tell stories to which she feels deeply connected with, and that viewers would also feel as such!
