

Julia Billington (she/her)

A NIDA graduate, Julia has worked over the last two decades as an actor, director, teaching artist and drama coach. Her whose work spans across film, television, theatre, and web content.

Julia starred in Independent Australian features Ellie and Abbie (and Ellie's Dead Aunt) as well as All About E, both of which enjoyed international acclaim at multiple film festivals reaching audiences across 15 countries. Her latest feature Buckley's Chance, the Canadian-Australian co-production starring Bill Nighy, was released earlier this year.

Julia worked as the Drama Coach on the Emmy Award winning television series First Day (ABC & Hulu). She assisted over a dozen of the youth cast in shaping their performances, including two first-time transgender actors Evie Macdonald and Jake Childs.

Julia is also an Arts Educator for the Bell Shakespeare Company, which has seen her travel nationwide leading workshops and residencies in several remote areas of the country. She is a regular director of The Players, the educational in-schools shows, which tour more than 300 schools nation wide.

She has multiple television credits including Pieces Of Her (Netflix); Janet King (ABC); telemovie Catching Milat and Home And Away (Shine Productions); East West 101 and Starting From Now (SBS); as well as Tricky Business and In Your Dreams (Southern Star).

Her theatre credits include: For STC - Embers; Gallipoli; For Belvoir St - Baghdad Wedding; For MTC – The Myth Project: TWIN; For Bell Shakespeare - Romeo and Juliet; For La Boite – My Name Is Rachel Corrie for which she received a Greenroom Groundling Award for Best Performance in an Independent Production.

Julia has been a proud member of MEAA (Actor's Equity) since 2008.