From starting dance at three years old, and playing piano and violin from a young age, Sarah (she/her) has since immersed herself in the performing arts scene of Tasmania. From acting in musicals and school plays, Sarah truly found her love of acting upon training in screen work under the guidance of Alison Stanton-Cook. She began her formal training at Federation University, Ballarat in 2023, and in 2024 worked with Directors Janice Muller and Bagryana Popov on shows The White Rose and The Lower Depths respectively. Sarah recently developed two original works for a project in 2025 at the Federation University Arts Academy and was part of the Ensemble for the graduating company's musical of Pippin. Additionally, she worked as the assistant Musical Director of The White Rose with Claire Healy and Pippin with Daniel Tusjak. Currently, she is a co-creator of the new Australian musical titled Girlhood in the Bathroom, that premiered at the 2026 Adelaide Fringe Festival and is headed to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival in August!
