

ALEXIS KING

Hello! I am Alexis King, and I have a burning passion for the arts. Since my childhood in the Philippines, amongst the frenzy of our excitable culture and the sounds of impressive karaoke singing, I have known that I've wanted to pursue this career.

Singing was the catalyst for these feelings, and I now specialize in all styles of singing, including Musical theatre, Opera, folk/pop and more. I also recently became a singing teacher to spread my love (and all-important technique) for singing.

Acting shortly followed as I had always been an exceedingly dramatic person!

My experience lies mostly in Theatre, as I've performed roles such as Donna in Mamma Mia, Alice in The Addams Family, Portia in Something Rotten, Delphi in Harry Potter and The Cursed Child, Sandy Cheeks in SpongeBob The Musical, and more!

I, as a film and tv fanatic, also wish to be on a film set, acting for a camera! Luckily, for me, I had the opportunity to be in 'Break The Cycle', a short film created by my school friend Aadita Singh.

I have also recently begun voice acting, because I am very passionate about playing characters and immersing myself in stories, whether it be as a stage and film actress, or by lending my voice to a voice acting project!

Even when I'm not performing for whatever reason (which is torturous!), I embrace my creative powers, by crocheting, knitting, journalling, composing poetry, short stories and music, playing the guitar and more! My mind is put at ease when I am in my creative element, on and off stage!

I will be continuing my performing arts education throughout university, as I have been accepted into the VCA for the bachelor of fine arts in Musical Theatre, which is to begin next year!
