

Olivia Suleimon

BIO

Olivia Suleimon is a multidisciplinary, Actor Creator/ Director, Model, and DJ. Olivia was the resident DJ on ABC's TV show "The Set", where she goes under the moniker of her Nigerian name, Yemi Sul. 2021 saw Olivia's theatre debut as a lead in Subtlenuance's production of "Morning Star", an exploration of race. In 2022, Olivia had the privilege of working as an understudy for the co-lead of 'Kara' in Darlinghurst Theatre & Green Door's production of "The Seven Methods of Killing Kylie Jenner."

Olivia is the Creator/Director for AACTA nominated ABC digital series, "Rosaline's Untaming" an indepth look at the African Australian female experience through hair. Olivia's keen interest for the screen arts initially led her to work for renowned documentarian Nick Broomfield in London and Los Angeles as a researcher and production assistant on BBC films, "My Father & Me" and "Last Man Standing: Suge Knight & the Murders of Biggie & Tupac."

Since working for Broomfield, Olivia has gone onto produce, write and direct on projects for Amazon Prime, as well as creating festival content for the African Music and & Cultural festival.