PROFILE

Priya Singh Gregory is an Australian actor and singer, born and raised in Sydney, with Indian and Nepalese heritage.

Priya's recent and upcoming credits include season 3 of the critically acclaimed TV show 'Colin From Accounts' opposite AACTA and Logie award winning actor Patrick Brummal, and web series 'Situationship' directed by the acclaimed and award winning Kiwi Director Roberto Nascimento.

Priya's journey to acting has been anything but conventional. With a Bachelor of International Studies and Master of International Affairs, she's worked in many prestigious Australian government departments. However, her love and longing for the arts won out and she began her formal acting at the National Institute of Dramatic Art (NIDA), where she studied in the Screen Actors Studio from 2019–2021.

Priya then began earning her stripes as a guest star on Australian shows and television and as a lead on national commercial campaigns. Her most notable guest star appearance was on season 5 of the hit Australian show 'Bump' produced by one of her favourite Australian actresses Claudia Karvan, for Binge.

Priya performed as part of the child choir for the 2000 Olympics torch ceremony and is now a trained contemporary singer. She's also a former powerlifter and avid dog lover.
