BIOGRAPHY

Lucinda Nicholas is an Australian-born actress, model and former beauty queen. At the age of 17, Lucinda won the title of Miss World South Australia.

Lucinda's screen career spans Australian and international productions including BBC documentary, Sundance Film Festival, and major Indian film and television. Upon moving to India, Lucinda learned Hindi to near-fluency as a requirement of the Indian film industry, going on to secure roles across Bollywood, South Indian film, and Indian television - including reality television series with audiences of up to 150 million viewers per episode.

In January 2019, Lucinda moved to the UAE where she became a prominent beauty model and live presenter for the Dubai World Trade Centre, with appearances across Gulf News and Khaleej Times channels and billboard campaigns across the DWTC.

Lucinda completed stunt and fight work training for camera and film in Los Angeles under stunt coordinator Daniel Locicero in October 2018, and received a scholarship to New York Film Academy's LA campus for an 8-week intensive Acting in Film program in February 2020. She completed her 200-hour intensive yoga instructor certificate at the Byron Yoga Centre in Byron Bay in 2015.

Lucinda has amassed over 100,000 followers across social media platforms and holds paid brand partnerships with major national and international brands. She is the founder of the My Habits Matter app and book, and the Lucinda Nicholas Parfum fragrance line.
