Bio

Ellacoco's passion for creative arts has led her to many places and opportunities, including New Zealand for a Woolworths Campaign and regional NSW for a feature film. Her versatility is evident in her spanning of roles as a TV Disney princess presenter and cooking show host to playing many villains in theatre. The feature and short films she has appeared in have won awards (see the end of CV) and have screened globally. Vocally, she has performed for Opera Australia and returned roles for Blackmores and Band-Aids voice-overs and in many musicals such as Little Miss Sunshine and Charlie and the chocolate factory. As a photographic model, campaigns include Sydney Harbour Foreshore tourism and The Rocks fashion. Ellacoco celebrates her neurodiversity by presenting a positive role model of a professional performer and advocating for other people with disability to achieve. Ellacoco graduated top of her class in Music and Drama, and was nominated for Encore and Onstage in performance for both subjects. She continues to perform with Epiphany Arts in both musical theatre and screen.
