ABOUT

Born in the UK, Keltie emigrated to Queensland when she was 12, moved to London for most of her twenties, and since then has been based in Sydney.

She worked as a television producer and celebrity booker for over 15 years in London and Sydney (BBC, ITV, ABC, SBS, Fremantle and more). Consequently Keltie is very much at home 'on set'.

She has had a myriad of other interesting jobs including working in the not for profit space within a domestic violence organisation and managing Hotel D'Oodles - a premium dog minding service for cavoodles!

In her teenage years she appeared as leads in TV commercials for Domino's Pizza and Lenard's Chicken and performed extensively as a dancer in Australia and internationally.
