HIGHLIGHT ON:

ACTOR

Nick Cain is an Australian performing artist and creative professional.

Nick has built a solid reputation as a hard-working, energetic and truthful performer.

As an actor, his diary has been booked over the last few years with regular guest spots on Channel Eleven's Neighbours as 'Alistair Hall', ABC's Utopia - Series 2 as 'Terry', Seven's Home and Away as 'Officer Thompson' and Triple Zero Heroes as the troubled youngster, 'Chris'.

His latest foray into feature length film is the co-lead 'Dom Hardy' in the harrowing drama After The End, due for cinematic release early 2019, whilst his last role on stage in Melbourne garnered five star reviews for his role as 'Laurence' in Shining City.

Having trained amongst Australia's illustrious coaches, he has studied with his acting gurus Ivana Chubbuck and Howard Fine, who are both renowned for their work with the top echelon of Hollywood's talent. Nick continues his ongoing performance training at the highly regarded Q44 Acting Studio in Melbourne and Sydney Actors Collective in Sydney.

In addition, he is an in-demand presenter and master of ceremonies for companies such as Disney Australia, The Australian Defence Force, IBM and the inaugural Pause Festival.

He has previously lent his voice to hosting a radio show for KISSFM Australia and hosts a popular podcast around Australian storytellers called The Act of Storytelling. Nick is also a trusted creative producer to some of the countries most influential brands in his other role as a Freelance Creative Producer.

Nick is proudly represented by Expression Arts Management.
