Professional Summary:

Isaiah Galloway shares a screen presence, charisma and physical look-alike of actor Archie Madekwe and Justice Smith, with a versatile range that allows him to step into both grounded dramatic roles and vibrant, youthful leads. With a Puerto Rican and Australian heritage, his distinctive look makes him a strong fit for diverse and international casting.

Trained under director Mark Piper, Isaiah has developed a sharp instinct for truthful, engaging storytelling both on screen and on stage. In addition to his acting, he is an accomplished musician, playing guitar since the age of 12 and singing since the age of 5, with a specialisation in R&B, blues and pop.
