

Biography

Juliet has performed in pits of mud, covered in blood, large bodies of water and on Torquay clifftops, has jumped off diving boards, from cliffs to crash mats, and repeatedly asked to play the object of queer attractions. It's a tough life, but someone's gotta do it.

Juliet is most passionate about adventurous projects, and, as gender non-conforming actor, stories centring female and LGBTQIA+ characters.

Put a 3-dimensional queer in your script and you've got her hooked.

She's worked extensively in stage, screen, and TVC productions for over 15 years and is best known for her lead role as the rebellious and chaos loving, Northern Irish ex-con, Fianna, in the stage-play 'CROCODILE FEVER' by Meghan Tylor, lead in the multi-award winning, queer-focussed short film, 'Plunge' by Kate Lefoe, and one half of the 90s-00s bop Midsumma cabaret, 'I Want It That Gay'.

She's developed herself extensively earning a BA in Creative Arts at Deakin University (2013), studying Meisner at the Ward Acting Studio (2010-12), and trains further with the Perdekamp Emotional Method (PEM) Studios Melbourne (since 2016), and is certified in Society Of Australian Fight Directors (SAFDi) Stage Combat Fundamentals, and the British Academy of Dramatic Combat (BADC) Standard (level 1) (2024).

In acting and life, Juliet brings a sense of adventure, authenticity and grit.

She's well known in Melbourne as drag king, Romeo Romeo, from award winning (Drag Legacy Competition 2023) duo, BROMEO.

She's tried her hand at paragliding for kicks, is an avid basketballer for the Queer Sporting Alliance Australia, and worked as a tour guide on The Great Ocean Road.

She's a Melbourne-based Aussie with a British passport, giving her the ability to work and travel across the UK to her heart's content.

Growing up on the Mornington Peninsula in the 90s-00s as a young lesbian tomboy, Juliet understands the impact media representation can have on people's successes, self-expression, and quality of life. She is committed to continuing the good work for all the scrappy, adventurous tomboys out there that follow.

Juliet is represented by Anne Will Management.
