

Kayte Morgan

Kayte is a passionate Australian actor from the Gold Coast who can soon be seen in the highly anticipated second season of Monarch: Legacy of Monsters as an engineer.

Kayte's passion for storytelling began in childhood, as an avid book reader and dancer. This led her to pursue her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Queensland where she studied writing and literature. After taking a class on performance, facilitated by the Queensland Shakespeare Ensemble, Kayte felt the need to bring the stories she wrote to life and thus pursued acting. She now studies at the Warehouse Actors Studio on the Gold Coast.

Kayte's humble journey begins with a single mum, struggling to make ends meet. As a child, her mother did everything she could to help Kayte pursue her creative passions, whether it was books, cameras, or dance lessons. As an adult, Kayte hopes to make her mum proud and carry her can-do spirit into everything she does.
