

DANIEL WEBBER

BIOGRAPHY

Quickly becoming known for the profound and vivid characters he has brought to life on the big and small screens, Daniel Webber will make his US television debut in 2016 appearing as the infamous Lee Harvey Oswald in JJ Abrams' mini series 11.22.63 for Warner Bros & HULU. Set to premiere on February 15, the eight-part event series, based off the thriller novel 11/22/63 by Stephen King, follows Jake Epping [James Franco] an ordinary high school teacher who is presented with the unthinkable mission of traveling back in time to prevent the assassination of John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963. Webber co-stars opposite Franco, Chris Cooper, Sarah Gordon, and Cherry Jones.

Born and raised on the Central Coast in Australia, Webber got his first big break after answering a nationwide casting call for the lead role of Jason in David Fields' "The Combination." The film was quite controversial, and tackled the tough subject matter of the 2005 Cronulla riots. Webber, who at the time was a rope access technician working on the wind turbines in South Australia, was able to showcase his natural acting ability & instincts, landing him at a talent agency. He went on to work on the acclaimed TV drama "All Saints," however his breakout role came from playing Darius in Bob Baker's "Doctor Who" spinoff series "K9." The series examined three adolescents trying to save the world from aliens with the aid of K9, Doctor Who's beloved flying robot dog. "K9" was Webber's first co-production between Australia and Britain, the series was released in over 13 countries and introduced him to an international audience. Additional Australian television credits for Webber include: a role in the two part event series "Devil's Dust," a compelling drama following the national issue of asbestos causing mesothelioma in people in the 1980's, and a recurring role on the long running Australian drama "Home & Away."

On the film front, Webber can next be seen in "Teenage Kicks," [in post production] a coming of age drama that examines how pain and trauma shapes the futures of young adults. Additional credits include working opposite Emily Browning in Julia Leigh's haunting erotic fairytale "Sleeping Beauty," "Galore," "Deceit," and the shorts "Multiple Choice," "Spine," "Reason to Smile," "Eric," "Summer Nights," and "Skin."

In his downtime, you can find Webber surfing, rock climbing, hiking, painting, wood carving, writing, and spending time with his family and friends. He is also a lover of animals, and has two horses, Simba and Indiana, and a cat named Tilly. On the charity front, he supports the Red Cross.

Webber currently splits his time between Los Angeles, and Australia.

The Man Who Killed America's Optimism

Australian actor Daniel Webber brings Lee Harvey Oswald to life in Stephen King's 11.22.63.

Television adaptations of Stephen King novels are nothing new.

The "King of Horror" has a knack for manipulating our curiosity with his storytelling, bringing his often disturbing tales into our living rooms. It, Salem's Lot and The Stand were all big television events.

But 11.22.63 is something different. King's 2011 novel is part thriller, horror, historical fiction, time traveling sci fi, and period piece. The story centers on a modern day school teacher who is sent back in time to prevent the assassination of JFK.

Daniel Webber plays Lee Harvey Oswald in the Hulu original eight-part event series adaptation of King's novel, which premieres Presidents' Day. The series is executive produced by King and J.J. Abrams and stars James Franco, Chris Cooper, Sarah Gordon and Cherry Jones, in addition to the 27-year-old Webber.

11.22.63'S DANIEL WEBBER IN CONVERSATION WITH FAULT MAGAZINE

15/04/2016 by FAULT Magazine • 0 Comments

Being a stranger in a strange land is tough. Tough, challenging, but, as I was a labourer in Australia before moving to America to follow his dream of acting, filled with anxiety and fear. To leave your home, travel across the world, be an industry known for crushing dreams and destroying spirits, is terrifying! But not the whole thing. He told me he doesn't let it get to him.

Daniel now appears alongside James Franco as Lee Harvey Oswald, in the Hulu event series 11.22.63, the thriller by Stephen King. It follows an English teacher Jake, as he travels back in time to the assassination of President JFK by Oswald (and possibly others).

Daniel has been receiving rave reviews for his performance, something made even more impressive by his relatively young age, 27, and the fact that this is his first break, aside from Horrible.

DANIEL WEBBER'S LOCKED & LOADED

The Aussie actor on his trampolining skills, TV's rite of passage, and playing Lee Harvey Oswald on Hulu's event series 11.22.63.

The latest Stephen King novel to be given the book-to-film treatment is 11.22.63, J.J. Abrams' eight-part miniseries with a super-sized opening chapter directed by Academy Award-winner Kevin Macdonald (Touching the Void, The Last King of Scotland). This could prove a huge breakthrough for Hulu in terms of sheer scope alone—think Amazon's The Man in the High Castle—and set the streaming service on a more ambitious and attractive path moving forward.

11.22.63 has a colossal event in its crosshairs: President John F. Kennedy's assassination on the date in question, and the escalation of the Vietnam War and other tumultuous events that followed. In this time-travel fantasy, the unlikely conduit charged with altering the history books is Jake Epping—good god, when does James Franco sleep?—a high school teacher who's sent back in time to the year 1960 via a local diner owner's rabbit-hole closet, tasked with having that bullet spin away from its mark to save Kennedy's life. As is true of so many stories that try to fool Father Time, tinkering with the past to change the present and future won't come without complications.

BBG Presents: Daniel Webber

Ever wondered what it would be like to be an assassin? Skin-tight leather catsuits, lurching off the rooftops of New York City in a professional half spy half cat-like manner. You're weightless, unstoppable and with a rifle in one hand and a dagger in the other, you are dangerous. Daniel Webber is an Australian star previously known for his role as a mysterious stalker in the classic TV series, 'Home and Away'. After what we assume to be an unbelievably challenging role, he has since moved on to the disturbing, yet fascinating character of infamous Lee Harvey Oswald in Hulu's new series: '11.22.63'.

You would think that by embodying a murderer; by evoking his thoughts, mannerisms and body language within the hullabaloo of Hollywood (Oswald was the suspected assassin of John F. Kennedy for those not in the know), that it would eventually warp a person's reality. The acting world has a nasty habit of consuming people in an angry hyper-reality, but Daniel remains grounded. Humble and courteous as ever, he takes great pleasure in the simple things life has to offer like a good hike, discovering waterfalls and chasing rivers: a true Aussie. For him, nothing beats spending time in and out of both sun and water. Finding nature in LA was a challenge for him, but he found his peace of mind, and BBG photo girl Nicola Collins captured it all with effortless finesse.

VARIETY

"On the plus side, there are some fine supporting performances... especially Daniel Webber as Lee Harvey Oswald, mastering Oswald's peculiar speech pattern and growing sense of paranoia a mental state that Jake, ironically, helps agitate."

THE Hollywood REPORTER

"...from Josh Duhamel as a drunken brute father to George MacKay as an unlikely and unstable ally for Jake to Cherry Jones as the mother of Oswald (played wonderfully in a much larger role by Daniel Webber)."

Mashable
