TRAE ROBIN

At only 20 years old, Trae has been honing his craft as an actor for over six years.

First with Tom McSweeney at the warehouse and then at Film & Television Studio International where he completed the Foundation Program and then graduated from the Professional (Full-Time) Acting for Television Program in early 2017, where he worked with such trainers as Kate Jenkinson, Andrea Moor, Lyndelle Green, Pia Miranda and Damian Walshe-Howling. Trae is also a trained guitarist.

Trae will make his feature film debut in Steve Jaggi Company's upcoming Australian feature film, Back of the Net, alongside Sofia Wylie. Trae has also just wrapped shooting in Queensland for a guest role on ABCTV's upcoming season of Harrow. Trae can next be seen in the lead role of Jordan Avery's short film, Teddy.
