Flynn Davis is a queer actor who has an immense passion for Australian theatre. Growing up amongst the farmland in Cowwarr, Flynn immersed themselves in all things theatre.

During their Bachelor of Performing Arts at Federation University, Flynn performed in a range of works including the Australian musical Tribe (ManBoy) dir. Anthony Crowley and Welcome to Thebes (Tiresias) dir. Kim Durban. Flynn has created new work such as The Disease of Disconnection, a song that was performed in the self devised show Exquisite Corpse. Since then, Flynn has recently joined the queer childrens fairytale show The Story Keepers (Arly) dir. Em Chandler.
