

Romy Madonna Poulter is an Australian performer who has made numerous appearances in television, film and stage from an early age. Best known for her roles in television shows such as, Home and Away (Channel 7), 'Terra Nova' (Fox Broadcasting) and 'The Elephant Princess' (Channel 10). She also appeared as a lead in multi award winning series, 'This is Desmond Ray'.

Romy spent her childhood performing professionally in musical theatre and as a dancer. As a teenager she was offered a full scholarship to the Australian Ballet School in Melbourne but chose to decline in hopes of pursuing a career in acting. She studied a full-time Diploma of Film and Television after completing her HSC in Brisbane, Qld.

Romy's passion for the industry led her to Los Angeles where she lived after securing excellent acting sponsorship/representation.

Romy also loves to sing and write music, co-producing songs to accompany American television series including; "The Royals".
