
MARQUEE

ANDREW HAZZARD

Andrew Hazzard is an Australian actor, singer and voiceover artist. He has received critical acclaim for his work and is an AiF Heath Ledger Award nominee.

On screen, he portrayed the leading role of Jack Kerrans in AFIIA ACTA Award-winning writer/director John Duigan's feature Careless Love, opposite Nammi Le and alongside Peter O'Brien and David Field. Duigan is the filmmaker behind Australian classics The Year My Voice Broke, Flirting and Sirens, with his works starring Nicole Kidman, Hugh Grant, Charlize Theron, Sam Neill, Ben Mendelsohn, and Baz Luhrmann.

Most recently Andrew appeared as Harris in the tele-movie Brock, working with AFIIA ACTA Award-winning director Geoff Bennett, and portrayed the role of John Bryant in Academy Award-nominated and AFIIA ACTA Award-winning director David Bradbury's docu-film The Crater.

His work in television series includes Rick Allen in Love Child, Angus Reid in Crownies, Keiran Munroe in Home & Away, Lucas in Dance Academy, Eddie 1918 in My Place, Jamie Hewson in Cops L.A.C, Drew Redman and Gus Adington in All Saints, and Michael in Underbelly: The Golden Mile.

On stage, he portrayed the leading role of Melchior Gabor in the Australian premiere of the musical Spring Awakening with the Sydney Theatre Company, directed by Geordie Brookman and under the co-artistic directorship of Andrew Upton and Cate Blanchett. The contemporary STC season included productions with Hugo Weaving, William Hurt, Richard Roxburgh, Robyn Nevin, John Bell and Phillip Seymour Hoffman.

He played the supporting role of Zeke Baylor in the Australian premiere of High School Musical with Disney Theatrical Productions in association with Really Useful, the stage adaptation of the highly successful film with Vanessa Hudgens and Zac Efron. Andrew recently starred in the role of Sy Spector in the The Bodyguard for Gordon Frost Organisation.

He has also appeared in numerous commercials, both domestically and internationally.

Andrew is a graduate of the Actors Centre, a college in Sydney where Hugh Jackman holds patronage.

MARQUEE
