SHORT BIO

Lily Stewart is an actor, writer, film-maker and producer who was born in London, England to a photographer and a makeup artist. When Lily was 5 years old, her family moved to Los Angeles and then to Sydney when she was 14. In 2018, Lily graduated from The Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts (WAAPA) with a Bachelor of Arts, Acting. After graduating, Lily was cast in various critically acclaimed TV and film productions: The Other Guy on Stan, directed by Gracie Otto, Network 10's My Life Is Muder, as well as the feature films Ascendant, Rhapsody of Love and Mother Mountain. Last year, Lily was cast in the ABC drama Barrons as well as the TV series WTFitness. At the beginning of 2020, Lily co-produced and performed in Poems for Paws, alongside actor Brendan Cowell. The event was a slam poetry night used to raise money towards the 2020 bushfires. Recently, Lily co-directed and produced the short film When Dark Times Come, as well as two music videos shot in Byron Bay for the music duo Pure Possy. Lily loves being creative and working with interesting people to make compelling content.
