

Originally from the UK Ruth is now based in NZ, she has performed in both countries playing diverse roles in Theatre, film and television from M15 Agent to drunken rockstar to dancing pig.

Ruth has just written and performed in 'The perfect Man' a comedic play about love in the modern world where its quite normal to order a robot man! She is developing this play to take to the Edinburgh fringe festival.

Soon to be released is the fantasy, action short film Stella 459 - Ruth enjoyed playing narcissistic and power hungry Valkyrie 7 and trained with the late Rod Johns for her fight scenes.

Ruth has a degree in art but always had a passion for performing.

In 2008 Ruth studied Meisner on the Island of Bequia at the home of Sanford Meisner which she found to be a profound and valuable experience.

She takes regular classes at Kacie Stetsons Studio and is constantly learning and improving her skills.

Always seeking adventure, in 2013 Ruth successfully climbed Mt Kilimanjaro for SAMA to raise funds and awareness of gender equality in African children. It was a truly unforgettable experience, she also made a documentary about the climb.

Ruth loves to be active and sports include snowboarding, scuba diving, mountainbiking and sailing.

She has taken stage combat classes and recently learnt samurai sword fighting skills.

Musically minded she plays a few instruments, including the Flute and saxophone. Also a singer she is working on a caberet show with a 50's Vegas theme.

She met her husband on the Set of the film 'Not for Children' their marriage scene went from fiction to reality and they married on Valentines Day this year.
