

Nicholas Dugdale

Bio

Nicholas took his first dance class at four years old and from an early age found a great passion for performing. He is now a professional performer with years industry experience and professional dancing, singing and acting training in a broad range of styles and techniques.

He began training at Patrick School of the Arts in 2017, completing it's Academy High School (Scholarship) and Elite Professional Development, followed by three years of Tertiary Full-Time Musical Theatre under the direction of Andrew Hallsworth, receiving his Diploma of Musical Theatre in 2023.

Nicholas' Theatre credits include The Rain Maker (Howie West) Touring Company, various roles for all Workshops/Showcases of the new Australian Musical, I Can Jump Puddles (Skeeter/Alan Marshall/Freddie Hawk), the Development Presentation of Silver Tongue (Ben Gunn) and was nominated for the 2015 Green Room Awards in Melbourne Festival's The Bacchae (Dionysus).

Screen credits include Zac O'Halloran in the ABCME/Netflix TV series The InBESTigators, Ian in the recent short film Tall Sad Girl And Short Punk Girl Are Friends and a Dancer in the Toyota TVC 'Never Stop Smiling'.

Nicholas is proudly represented by Ian White Management.