

Raised in the suburbs of Melbourne, Emma was first introduced to the performing arts at age 5, and quickly developed a love for acting and drama. Beginning advanced screen acting classes and casting workshops with Active Performance Studios in 2011, she has appeared in shows such as Neighbours and Barracuda. Commencing her formal training at the Arts Academy, Federation University Australia in 2016, she has performed in Tamara Searle's Agamemnon (Chorus), Ross Hall's The Chekhov Project (Nellie, Varka) and Melanie Beddie's The Time is Not Yet Ripe (Jane K. Hill). Emma will be appearing in the Australian feature film M4M, due for release in 2019.