

GABRIELLE ROSE

ACTOR

Gabrielle Rose is an Australian actress who has extensively trained with respected casting directors, directors, screen and stage performers since 14 years old. She consistently hones her craft and is passionate about Film and Television. Her performances are emotionally driven and she leads with authenticity, always developing thorough character breakdowns allowing depth to show on screen. Behind the scenes, she is quick to see the best in any situation and leads with humour

She has been tutored by industry professionals Dianne Eden, Andrew Jack, Philip Holder, Tim Ross, Grant Brown, Astrid Wells Cooper and Tom McSweeney.

Recently she underwent Assistant Directing training with Educator and Producer Liam Branagan.

Gabrielle has been involved in other artforms since childhood like piano, painting and writing, and regularly plays sports.

She is currently working on creative writing endeavours such as screenplays and novels, with an ambition to write and direct her own projects. Other than being creative, her biggest loves are her dog Maya, Twenty One Pilots and debating anybody that doesn't appreciate Nicolas Cage.
