ABOUT ADRIAN

Adrian is a down to earth Aussie bloke who wouldn't look out of place in Valhalla. Although he grew up as a footy head around the beautiful beaches of Cronulla, Sydney, he yearned for adventures across the sea and to find out what else he might want to do with his life. So after several injuries playing footy ending that dream, he began to travel and follow his curiosities around acting. Across the oceans, he romanced his way through Europe, hunted orcs in New Zealand, and wrestled bears in the northern mountains of Canada. To follow his curiosity, he took to the stage, performed in many short films and expressed every emotion and state of being he could find in acting class. Now, with his heart set on acting as his path, he has settled back into his life in Cronulla. Although older, maybe a little wiser and definitely hairier, he will always love watching his beloved St George Illawarra Dragons, hitting the gym and swimming in the ocean.

When it comes to acting, Adrian would describe himself as a character actor (the fantasy warrior with a Scottish accent being his personal favourite). He is extremely versatile, being able to deliver heart-breaking performances as well as have you crying from laughter.

If you asked Adrian why he loves acting he would say

"I love connecting with people and exploring all my emotions while giving myself over to imaginary worlds. Mostly though, my favourite actors have been incredibly healing, inspirational and funny to watch and I feel its my duty to be that for other as well."

HIGHLIGHTS

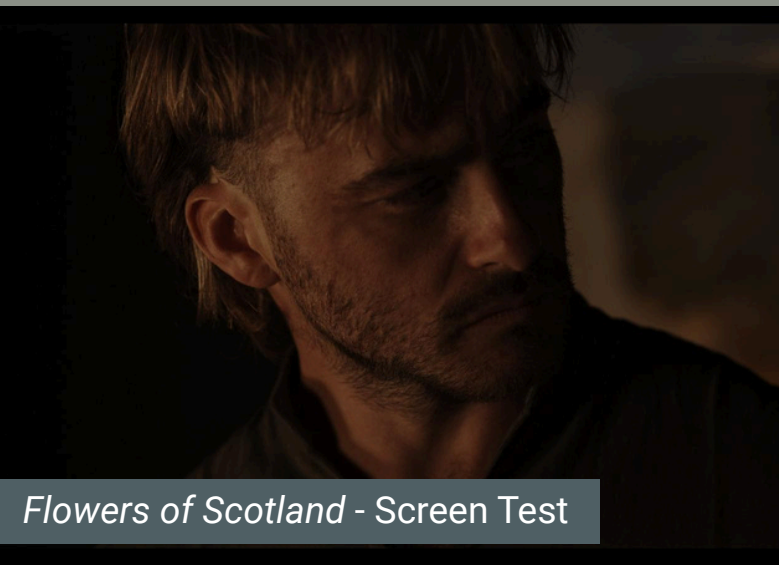

Adrian Glen is a dynamic performer with a natural Australian charisma. His deepest passions lie in taking on very physical characters, warrior archetypes and larger than life and grounded comedy.

As well as being recognisable from a recent Blue Bet commercial, Adrian's resume boasts a number of short film credits where he has portrayed dynamic and versatile characters.

One of his highlights was Leftovers, a romantic comedy, horror short film, where Adrian seamlessly portrayed the natural yet layered role of Alex. Dedicated to creating his own work and getting to perform, Adrian also co-produced and edited the film. Adrian also has plans to create and act in a number of extra short films this year.

Another career highlight for Adrian was writing, producing, directing, and acting in the music video for Left Hand Side by Samsara.

Adrian is actively training weekly at Sydney Actors Studio. Through this, he is honing craft and creating a self-tape showreel library.

Flowers of Scotland - Screen Test

Blue Bet - TVC

Boy Swallows Universe - TV Series

OTHER EXPERIENCE

As well as playing roles, Adrian has experience as a stand in, body double, and stunt double. Notably, he did all three of these for Travis Fimmel in the TV Series Boy Swallows Universe.

With Travis Fimmel's performance as Ragnar in Vikings being one of the reasons Adrian got into acting, working on-set for months alongside Travis was a personal career highlight. This experience gave Adrian the valuable, first hand experience of working on a large scale set, but also allowed him to watch and learn the craft from one of the actors he considers his inspiration.

“ Adrian was incredible on set. He was punctual and worked well with the crew. Adrian brought a lot of laughs to set and created some amazing improved scenes we were able to use. He was respectful and responded well to direction, as well as being willing to try different things from the original blocking. It was an absolute privilege to have him on our set! ”
