

Aaron Glenane

One of Australia's most chameleonic actors, Aaron Glenane, has recently completed filming Shantaram for Apple TV and will next be seen in Interceptor for Netflix in June 2022.

Aaron has a long list of impressive credits including his recent work on the Paramount Network series 68 Whiskey, and with Jennifer Connelly and Sean Bean on Snowpiercer for TNT / Netflix.

Heralded for his performance as Chook in the critically acclaimed feature Killing Ground - which premiered at the 2017 Sundance Film Festival, Aaron went on to major roles in 2067 alongside Kodi Smit-McPhee, Picnic At Hanging Rock, Mr Inbetween, Danger Close and Ride Like a Girl.

Other notable performances include his outstanding depiction of Mushroom Records founder Michael Gudinski in the special event miniseries Molly and his heartfelt performance as Gus in Drift alongside Sam Worthington.

An accomplished stage actor and dancer, Aaron's numerous stage credits include orchestrating and performing the international live read of Orphans with Alec Baldwin along with the original Redline Productions season, Silent Night and Ride & Fourplay (Darlinghurst Theatre Company), Gruesome Playground Injuries, Journey's End and The Boy From Oz alongside Hugh Jackman. Aaron was also a key motion capture artist of George Miller's Happy Feet 2 and a member of Dein Perry's Tap Dogs.