

“ CEECEE ”

CECILE CAMPBELL

ACTOR | DIRECTOR

MEET CEECEE

Cecile "CeeCee" Campbell has been treading the boards from the age of 6 when she won her first award; a gold medal in the character song and dance section of a local eisteddfod. She cut her professional acting teeth at the age of 16 in a production of The Music Man working along side Ted Hamilton and Gloria Dawn. In the breaks between performances, she vividly recalls reading against Andonia Katsaros whilst the latter rehearsed a script for The Mavis Bramston Show.

CeeCee is a passionate performer with excellent comedic timing, though she's no slouch at dramatic roles; she puts her soul into everything she does. In 2018, CeeCee was delighted to be nominated for Best Supporting Actress for her comedic role of the "Mother-in-law from Hell" in First Things First, which she also Directed, at the Gold Palm Theatre Awards.

CeeCee branched out into film and television in 2019, and most recently played the role of Miriam Cruikshank in the upcoming police drama Dustfall, directed by Emma Freeman and starring Anna Torv.

CeeCee has undertaken extensive training in film acting and has had roles in several short films as well as a proof of concept for a TV series. She has also appeared in commercials for several well known brands. She's eagerly awaiting her next opportunity.

In her spare time, CeeCee is a prolific reader of whodunits and police procedurals, as well as being the current president of Tugun Theatre Company. Her 'personal trainer' is her chocolate Labrador, Hillary, who makes sure her 'mum' stays fit by insisting on a run around the park on a daily basis.

THEATRE

Actress, director, and president of the Tugun Theatre Company; CeeCee is a veteran of the stage.

One of her most notable performances was in the Tugun Theatre Company's production of The Cemetery Club, in which she portrayed the role of Lucille. CeeCee received multiple glowing reviews for her performance in this production. She also received outstanding feedback for her portrayal of Deb in the Tweed Theatre Company's 2021 production of A Red Plaid Shirt.

Within the last 2 decades, CeeCee has managed to perform in over 30 theatre shows. In 2025 alone, she added a number of performances to her repertoire, notably which include performances of Boeing, Boeing and Love, Loss and What I Wore at the Tugun Theatre Company.

In 2025, CeeCee also directed Tugun Theatre Company's production of the whodunit thriller Checkmate, which elicited positive reviews from the audience.

“Pocket rocket Cecile Campbell endows the character with all the diversity that I suspect is not on the page... The character itself offers more diversity for a talented actor, and she makes a meal of it. With stage presence by the bucket load, she's easy to connect with, and avoids several pitfall cliches in the action by playing on Deb's genuine love for her husband. Her sense of comic timing is impeccable.”

COMMERCIALS

CeeCee is no stranger to the world of commercials. Since stepping into the world of screen acting, she has been featured in numerous advertising campaigns for well-known brands, including the likes of Nike Instant Scratch-Its, and Recco.

CeeCee was also the featured Creepy Granny in the Queensland Government's recent Sun Safe campaign; a set of horror movie trailer style public service announcement aimed at raising sun safe awareness.

FILM & TV

CeeCee has been working in front of the camera since 2019. Most recently, she wrapped filming for her role of Miriam Cruikshank in the new TV series Dustfall which is due to be released on ABC and BBC television in August 2026.

In 2024, CeeCee appeared in the TV series pilot, The Celebrant, which went on to win multiple awards in several festivals. She also appeared in the short film Mai Tai.
